

RESTRICTIONS:

- NDNA and its members reserve the right to reject and/or edit any ad that is deceptive, offensive, not in compliance with state and federal regulations, or otherwise unacceptable. All ads must pass prior approval.
- No work-at-home advertisements unless reviewed and accepted by NDNA.
- Business opportunity and investment advertising must disclose the type of business and the amount of investment required. Job listings must be for legitimate openings and state type of work offered. Ads for job information must indicate in the ad what the customer will receive. Ad cannot claim "now hiring" if only job information will be provided and actual positions available are not advertised. Ad must state if there is a fee to receive job information. If approved, ads for job information will be placed under "Job Information" category and not the "Help Wanted" category.
- No 900 number ads or 800 number ads that refer to a 900 number.
- No weight loss, suppressant or nutritional supplements ads.
- No quick-fix credit or money-to-lend ads.
- Political advertising for measures or individual candidates running for office or parties is not allowed. However, an ad for notice of caucus/convention is permissible.
- Adoption ads require a letter from an attorney.
- No sexual enhancement, psychic, or astrology ads accepted.
