I have had a good experience working with BHG at Washburn and Garrison. While at Washburn, the two main things that I have been working on have been producing ads and doing layout on the paper. What I enjoy most about the Washburn location has been interacting with many great co-workers as well as having the privilege to see work I have done published in the paper.

During my time in Garrison I've learned everything from how equipment works and how to create logos and designs that help build a customer's image. I also designed ads during my days in Garrison.
